United Nations University

The General Assembly,

Reaffirming its previous resolutions on the United Nations University, including resolution 53/194 of 15 December 1998,

Having considered the report of the Council of the United Nations University,[1] as presented by the Rector of the University on 31 October 2000, and the report of the Secretary-General on the University,[2]

Bearing in mind the need to continue to ensure a coordinated system-wide approach to training and training-related research issues as well as to continue to pursue a coherent strategy for building on common fields of interest and complementarities between the various training and research institutions within the United Nations system,

Expressing its deep appreciation for the voluntary contributions made to date by Governments and other public and private entities in support of the University,

Noting with satisfaction that since its creation twenty-five years ago the University has developed a distinctive identity within the United Nations system and the international academic and scientific community,

1. Welcomes the adoption by the Council of the United Nations University of its "Strategic Plan, 2000", which has a programmatic focus on research, policy studies, capacity-building and dissemination of information in two thematic areas: peace and governance and environment and sustainable development, in line with the priority concerns of the United Nations;

2. Takes note with appreciation of the steps taken by the Council and the Rector of the University to promote the work and the visibility of the University, in particular among Member States, the United Nations and its agencies, through such measures as organizing a series of public forums for the purpose of disseminating the results of its research, and requests them to further intensify such efforts;

3. Also welcomes the contribution made by the University to the work of the United Nations both in intergovernmental processes, including United Nations global conferences, and in analytical work, and requests the Rector to intensify his efforts to extend the University's policy-studies programme;

4. Emphasizes the continuing need of the University to strengthen the capacity of scholarly and scientific institutions in developing countries by extending its capacity-building programmes and through innovative partnerships and networking, involving the United Nations system, academic entities, professional associations, private sector bodies and other elements of civil society that will bring additional inputs to the work of the University;

5. Further welcomes the progress made by the University in improving interaction and communication between the University and the rest of the United Nations system, noted in the report of the Secretary-General on the University,[2] requests the Rector to intensify his efforts in this regard, and also requests the Secretary-General to encourage other parts of the United Nations system to improve their interaction and communication with the University in order that it may serve as a think tank for the United Nations system;

6. Requests the Secretary-General, in this connection, to continue his consideration of innovative measures to improve interaction and communication between the University and other relevant bodies of the United Nations system and to ensure that the work of the University is taken into account in all relevant activities of the system, in the light of General Assembly resolution 53/194, so that the United Nations system may draw more extensively upon the work of the University, and to submit a report thereon to the Assembly at its fifty-seventh session;

7. Welcomes the progress made in the participation of the University in the work of the Administrative Committee on Coordination, and encourages the University to take an active role so that it may better understand and respond to the needs of the United Nations system as it carries out its work;

8. Also welcomes the initiative taken by the University, together with the United Nations Office at Geneva, in bringing together United Nations research entities, and invites the Secretary-General to use these annual meetings to develop greater synergy among them and between them and other parts of the United Nations system;

9. Takes note of the important ongoing cooperation between the University and the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, in particular in the follow-up activities to the World Conference on Higher Education, held in Paris on 5 October 1998, the preparation of the World Water Development Report and the initiation of the programme on dialogue among civilizations;

10. Recognizes the importance of creating linkages, collaboration and cooperation with other research institutions and universities around the world, in particular in developing countries, in order to facilitate the exchange of information, experience and best practices so as to mainstream the perspective of developing countries in the activities of the University;

11. Requests the University to broaden the reach of its dissemination activities using innovative methods, including new information and communication technologies, to ensure that the knowledge developed by the University is made available to all those to whom it may be of benefit;

12. Requests the Council and the Rector, taking into account the previous resolutions and the report of the Joint Inspection Unit on the University,[3] to continue to make further efforts to ensure the efficiency and cost-effectiveness of the activities of the University, as well as its financial transparency and accountability, to intensify efforts to augment its Endowment Fund and to find innovative ways to mobilize operating contributions and other programme and project support;

13. Invites the international community to make voluntary contributions to the University, including its research and training centres and programmes, and in particular to its Endowment Fund.
